Hancock sandbeach advisory committee to meet Monday

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Hancock County Sandbeach Technical Advisory Committee will meet Monday, March 18 with project consultant, Ace Torre. Torre's firm was appointed last week, along with the Ralph M. Fields Consulting Firm by personnel from the Bureau of Marine Resources and Gulf Regional Planning Commission. These consultants were chosen from a field of 11 firms which submitted proposals for preparing the master plan, design and engineering for the Harrison-Hancock Sandbeach Improvement Project. Fields will provide overall project management and preparation of the master plan and Torre was selected to develop the design strategy and "physical" master plan layout from the results of the overall planning process. Torre will meet with committee members at 4 p.m. at the county courthouse. During the meeting, a tour of beach facilities in coastal cities including Gulf Shores, Ala., Pensacola, Fla. and Panama City, Fla. will also be discussed.

The tour has tentatively been scheduled for April 11-12 for committee members. Because of the numerous problems to be addressed, five primary committees have been established within the technical advisory council, Taylor said.

The committees as described by Taylor are as follows:
—Legal and administrative committee: With the assistance of the University of Mississippi law Center the committee will focus on the effect of existing beach laws and regulations, ownership, riparian rights and jurisdictional, administrative and regulatory responsibilities. The committee will also assess the legal implication of the recommendations made by the other committees.

—Facilities planning committee. With the assistance of the consultant, this committee will assess the need for recreational facilities and services, prioritize those needs and identify where the facilities and services could be located. Assessment of the adjacent land use and zoning, traffic and beach user safety and a wide range of functional problems will be undertaken to form the basis of the overall physical master plan.

—Financial committee. This committee will research existing financial support for beach maintenance and improvement and will investigate various local, state and federal sources for implementation of the various recommendations. In conjunction with update from other committees, the financial committee will develop a capital improvements plan with emphasis on local sources of funding and the coordination of financial resources.

—Public relation committee: This committee will develop the opinion surveys and the general methods for public input into the plan. This committee will also represent the technical advisory council for news releases as pertinent plan sections are completed. Public meetings and other ways of distribution information about the plan will also be the Schools open Monday?

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Public school students in Hancock County will begin their third week of a "spring vacation" Monday as a result of a strike by teachers for a pay raise.

The Hancock County School Board voted Saturday morning to declare Monday a Teacher's Workday to determine if enough teachers would return to the classes for students to begin classes later in the week.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph said he did not believe that teachers who failed to be in their classroom Monday would be fired.

"There are a lot of ways I believe we can get around firing the teacher," he said.

Randolph also said he didn't think that extending Spring Holidays would be aiding and abetting the strike. "The students should not be penalized in their spring schedule," he said.

Approximately 30 teachers attended the meeting.

During the meeting school board president Billy Lyons told teachers that the board is backing the teachers 100 percent and is doing everything possible to assist them.

Hancock North Central teacher Wilda McNatt said that many of the teachers were aware of the board's support.

"The majority of the teachers that I have talked to are aware that Mr. Randolph and the board is doing everything you can to help us," she said.

The board recessed until Monday, March 18 at 6 p.m.

Bay St. Louis city schools will remain closed until the teachers return, Superintendent J. D. McCullough said.

The city school board will also meet Monday night. Their meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

Parade reset

The St. Patrick's Day parade cancelled because of rain Saturday, will be today, March 17 beginning at noon.

The parade will follow the same route as scheduled for yesterday, said James LaGasse of the Waveland Civic Association.

Slot machines seized, lounge owner charged

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Enforcement agents arrested one person and confiscated 10 gambling devices at a Bay St. Louis lounge Thursday night during a Mississippi Alcoholic Beverage Commission (ABC) raid.

Brenda G. Hearndon, 21, 336 Eighth St., Bay St. Louis was arrested and charged by the ABC with possession of liquor and sale of liquor without a permit, according to ABC enforcement agent Mark Ohman.

In addition, Hearndon was charged with possession of gambling equipment by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

The raid was conducted at the Bottoms Up Lounge, corner of Central Avenue and Ballentine Street, Bay St. Louis.

Hearndon is listed as owner and operator of the business, Ohman said.

"Harrison County investigators Richard Giraud and Jan Milburn made illegal liquor purchases on March 8 and then again on Thursday night before the raid," Ohman stated.

The ABC investigator continued, "Arrangements had been made between Harrison County Sheriff Larkin Smith with ABC and Hancock and Bay enforcement agencies to use the two undercover agents."

A search warrant was issued by Hancock County Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson.

Ohman, Hancock County Investigator Delbert Seay, Bay Investigator Joe Pica, Hancock Deputy Glen Strong, ABC agent Kim Corbant, Giraud and Melbourn conducted the search.

The gambling devices were

The raid and seizure was conducted by ABC enforcement agents, Hancock and Harrison county sheriff's deputies, and Bay St. Louis police officers. Mark Ohman, ABC enforcement agent, said the raid was a cooperative effort by the agencies after undercover officers purchased mixed drinks from the establishment. Brenda Hearndon, 21, 336 Eighth St., Bay St. Louis, listed as the owner of the lounge, was charged with possession of liquor and sale of liquor without a permit by ABC and possession of gambling equipment by the Hancock County sheriff's office, Ohman stated. Verdict unanimous

Guilbeau found guilty, sentencing set April 5

BY DENA BISNETTE

After a four-day trial, a Hancock County jury took about two hours Thursday night to find Virginia Guilbeau guilty of possession and intent to distribute 5,100 pounds of marijuana.

The verdict was unanimous, according to a poll of the nine-men, three-women jury requested by Defense Attorney James Dukes.

Judge Kosta Vlahos set a sentencing hearing for Guilbeau for April 5. Also to be sentenced April 5 is the defendant's son Gregory Ladner, who was scheduled to be Guilbeau's co-defendant. He entered a guilty plea Monday.

Until the sentencing hearing, Vlahos released Guilbeau and Ladner on $200,000 bond each.

Guilbeau, Ladner and Cuban national Raoul Lozardo were arrested March 25, 1984, at Guilbeau's Firetower Road residence in Kiln.

U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agents and officers from the Hancock County Sheriff's Department seized a truck loaded with 5,100 pounds of marijuana allegedly brought into Mississippi from Texas.

Also arrested was Cuban national Junco Ivan Martinez, who was scheduled to be tried with Guilbeau and Ladner this week. Martinez failed to appear in court Monday and Vlahos revoked his $75,000 bond.

The judge said Lozardo's case is scheduled for next week, but added that he is considering postponing it until April 5 in order to dispose of all three cases at the same time.

THURSDAY TESTIMONY
Ladner, the last witness to testify Wednesday, was the only witness called by the defense on Thursday. The prosecution declined the opportunity to present rebuttal witnesses.

Under cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney Herman Cox, Ladner admitted arranging to pick up a rental truck loaded with 5,100 pounds of marijuana on March 24, but he claimed his mother believed the vehicle contained furniture.

Ladner said he received a telephone call from missing co-defendant Martinez "late, but before midnight" on March 23. He alleged that Martinez gave him a description of a yellow Ryder rental truck and a tag number and told him to pick up the vehicle at the Mississippi Hospitality Center on Interstate 10.

He also testified to having picked up another person, Lozardo, earlier on March 23.

Lozardo was supposed to help him pick up the truck, Ladner said.

According to Ladner, he and Lozardo were preparing to pick up the truck when Guilbeau asked where they were going.

Ladner said he told his mother they were going to pick up a truck loaded with furniture for a summer home.

Ladner stated that he told her they were going to pick up a truck loaded with furniture for a summer home being rented by Martinez and said his mother then offered to drive the two men to the Hospitality Center.

When they arrived at the center,

Guilbeau circled the area several times but Ladner said they failed to find a truck matching the description he had written down the previous night.

Guilbeau parked the car and went into the restroom while Ladner and Lozardo waited for the truck.

When she returned 10 to 15 minutes later, she had the keys to the truck.

"She said, 'Your truck's here' and handed me the keys. I don't know how she found it. I still say I never saw the truck arrive," he said.

Ladner also stated that he never saw his mother pick up the written description of the truck, but said the paper was lying on the front seat of her cream-colored Lincoln just before she left the car.

He also said she must have taken the paper with her because the truck driver was not supposed to give the keys to anyone except the person who showed him Martinez' description of the vehicle.

Ladner also claimed that he had not known Guilbeau had gone to meet the truck driver.

His testimony confirmed earlier testimony by U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agents, who had stated that they saw Guilbeau talk to the truck driver and obtain the keys.

Ladner said he turned the truck keys over to Lozardo and returned to the car, which Guilbeau drove back to her residence, where Ladner was also staying.

She let Ladner out at the gate to her property. He said he had to wait about 15 minutes for Lozardo to arrive with the truck, which was supposed to have been following the car.

Cox attempted to determine where Guilbeau had gone after leaving Ladner.

"She didn't tell me. I thought she was going to the beauty parlor..."

"She didn't tell me. I thought she was going to the beauty parlor to have her hair done, because at the time she did that every Saturday," Ladner said. "Maybe she went to the store."

"Did she switch to the red car and go down to the sheriff's substation?" Cox asked, referring to earlier testimony from DEA agents who alleged that Guilbeau was seen attempting to search an agent's vehicle parked near the substation.

Ladner stated that his mother continued driving the Lincoln rather than switching to a maroon Lincoln she also owned. He admitted that she drove in the direction of the substation, but said she normally went that direction when going to the beauty parlor in Diamondhead.

When the truck arrived, Ladner instructed Lozardo to drive the vehicle behind Guilbeau's barn and park it there. As he was closing the gate, he saw a motor home and a car pass on the road.

"I had a gut reaction I would be arrested. I went to Raoul and told him not to open the truck or anything. I told him to go in the cottage and lie down," he said, referring to a rental cottage on Guilbeau's property.

Burglary charges dismissed

Burglary charges against Tom Stinson, 45, of Route 6, Box 835, Bay St. Louis, were dismissed Wednesday night in city court when a witness failed to appear.

Stinson was charged with burglary after the Hancock County Sheriff's Department recovered a boat motor on his property that had been stolen in January from Allen Koskan.

Bay Chief Investigator Joe Pica said the matter could be pursued to the grand jury.

For mayor. A positive step into the future.

Beautification needs to be a joint effort by all our citizens

Beautification is a serious problem for the majority of neighborhoods in Hancock County.

In talking to county board of supervisors and city leaders, one gets the same reply, thousands of dollars are spent each year just picking up litter from our roadways.

We are now in the last half of March which has been designated as Beautification Month by our political leaders and some citizens have responded.

We have noted many home owners raking and reving up the lawn mowers and getting their premises in shape.

Annual Pilgrimages in Hancock County will be starting on Wednesday at NSTL and the Hancock County Welcome Center on I-10, Friday at Diamondhead, and Thursday, March 28 in Bay-Waveland.

Litter is a deterrent to beauty, lowers property values, drives away potential shoppers, and discourages tourism.

Whether we like it or not, we as a people are judged by the appearance of our surroundings. Our highways, streets, and roads are living rooms to tourists.

The municipalities and board of supervisors have to pay employees constantly to collect litter from roadways. The efforts of these men could surly be used in other areas if we were not carless with our debris.

All citizens need to discourage litter-bugs! Plant trees, shrubs and flowers in attractive landscape designs. Urge their neighbors to do the same.

It takes the efforts of all citizens for beautification to be successful, yet it also takes someone to get the ball started in their neighborhood.

We wish to thank all of those who take the beautification seriously and do their part in cleaning up yards, businesses and streets in their immediate areas.

Through the cooperation of all Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead, and Hancock County can be a much cleaner place.

Common Cause lauds solons on ethics vote

Common Cause/Mississippi has praised the senators who voted to maintain the ethics protections in the state constitution by a razor-thin margin on Tuesday.

The citizens' lobbying organization had criticized a proposed constitutional amendment as "dangerous and defective" in its reliance on disclosure as a substitute for prohibition of conflicts of interest by public officials.

The proposed amendment failed last Thursday by a vote of 31 years to 19 days, and again on reconsideration Tuesday, 32 to 17.

A two-thirds vote is needed to place an amendment on the ballot for voters to approve or disapprove. A similar proposal was turned down by 58 percent of the voters in November, 1984.

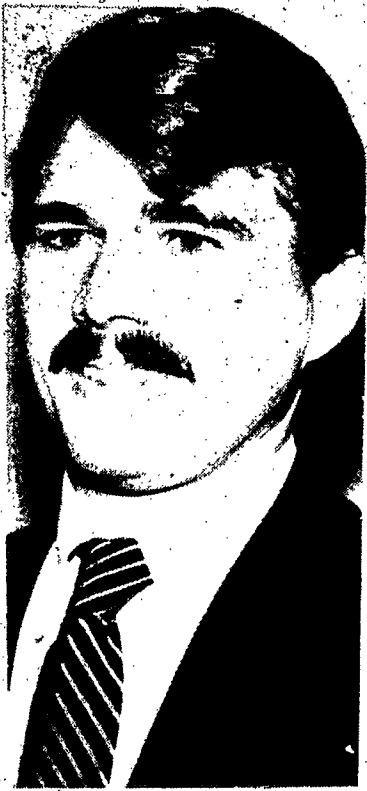

"At least a third of the senators recognized the will of the people as expressed in that election," said Common Cause Vice President Paul Neville.

He said this year's action will avert a similar outcome at the next general election and further "embarrassment" to legislators running for reelection in 1987.

The 1984 proposal and the one offered this year would have allowed legislators to contract with state agencies, and for that reason were not in the public interest, according to Common Cause.

The senators voting against loosening the ethics law were Hob Bryan, Wayne Burkes, Bill Canon, Aubrey M. (Mitch) Childre, Robert L. Crook, Tommy Gollott, George Guerieri, Stephen Hale, Henry Kirksey, Malcolm Mabry, Johnny Morgan, W.L. Rayborn, Cy Rosenblatt, David M. Smith, Emerson Stringer, Gene Taylor, Bob Usey and John White.

Dear Sir:

I have learned that "never" is a word not to be used lightly. The idea of a strike involving teachers was always abhorrent to me, and I have often declared as a teacher that I would never forget my commitment to my students. I would never strike! The prospect was unthinkable.

Circumstances, however, do alter cases. Because teachers in Mississippi have traditionally felt as I always felt, they have for decades tried every means short of striking to gain financial recognition of their professional status.

Today in spite of all their years of effort and waiting on promises that never materialized, teachers in our state stand at the very bottom of the national salary scale and have reluctantly accepted the fact that striking is the only thing left untried.

They put this action off as long as they could, and even now they offer, if a settlement is reached, to teach as late into the summer as necessary to insure that no student loses a credit.

To those who say, "Teachers are different. They get a deep satisfaction from their work that helps to make up for the small pay checks," I should like to point out that such satisfaction, while delightful, does not pay for the groceries in their carts nor for their gas at the pump, the rent on their houses, or the braces on their children's teeth. No insurance company accepts it as payment on a premium. It will not pay a plumber's bill or buy a pair of shoes.

These days alarmingly few college students are choosing teaching as a profession, and the number drops every year. The reason is obvious. Where, then, will teachers be found for the children of tomorrow? What kind of teachers will they be when the brightest and most capable of our young people will have already gone into other, better-paying fields?

Our legislators should consider this frightening prospect and take steps to make teaching a financially acceptable career, even if this involves new sources of funds such as a state-run lottery (set up by many other states with great success).

Mississippi teachers are not asking for much—simply the average pay of other southeastern states, regrettably low as that is.

Too long have they waited submissively and hoped for better days. Too often have they seen their students make more money in their part-time jobs in groceries or at fast-food counters than their teachers made in the classroom.

Now at long last they have agreed that enough is enough. And I say, "For the future of education in Mississippi, more power to them!"

Sincerely yours,
Emily de Montluzin

Former Bay system teacher appalled at firings, reports other options available

To the Editor:

I am appalled at the firing of the teachers by the administration and school board of Bay St. Louis public schools.

At Bay High alone, the collective experience of these dedicated teachers is over 200 years, given mostly to this school system.

Mississippi Law provides that the school board may, at their discretion, close the schools when they think it in the best interest of the majority of students, or in case of an emergency.

When this procedure is used the days lost need not be made up and the teachers will forfeit none of their salary. Why wasn't this option chosen? Why were the teachers wrongfully and needlessly fired?

This did not need to be done. Count the good teachers who have left this system. Count those who are planning to leave. Count those who would leave if they could.

A teacher-oriented school system would help keep good teachers and benefit everyone by producing better prepared graduates.

REPORT

FROM THE OFFICE OF
ATTORNEY GENERAL
ED PITTMAN

ANTI-CRIME BILLS

Last fall, the attorney general, the governor, the district attorneys, sheriffs, police chief and other law enforcement officers got together to develop a package of strong anti-crime legislation for our state.

Together we agreed on what was needed for better law enforcement and faster, stronger criminal justice. Together we asked the Mississippi Legislature to consider these needs. We have received the active support and cooperation of several Mississippi lawmakers, but unfortunately the efforts—ours and theirs—have been only partially successful. Many of the major provisions of the anti-crime package were killed in committees without getting to the floor. Others were killed when they were put so far down on the floor calendar that the deadline passed before they were considered.

It is significant, I think, that no bill from the anti-crime package was voted down on the floor of either house where votes are recorded. Instead, the bills were attacked in committee where no official vote is taken and the public is left unaware of how its representatives protect, or fail to protect, its interest.

We asked that the legislature give some relief to the victims of violent crimes who have out-of-pocket expenses for hospital bills, funeral expenses and time lost from work. That bill died in committee in both houses.

We asked that they make it a crime for a convicted felon to own a gun. That bill died in committee in both houses.

We asked that they give the district attorney the same right the defendant now has to request a change of venue to another county if he believes he can't get a fair and impartial jury in the county where the crime occurred. That bill died in committee in both houses.

We asked that juries in capital murder trials be allowed to know that convicted murderers who are given sentences of life in prison will be eligible for parole. This bill, too, died in committee in both houses.

A vital provision of the anti-crime package, the multi-count indictment bill, is still alive. This is a necessary piece of legislation which will save money for the counties, keep court calendars from clogging with repetitious cases, and in many cases could result in increased jail or prison time for violent criminals.

The bill provides that all charges which arise from a single incident or pattern of crimes may be tried in the same trial. Under current Mississippi law, if a robber goes into a convenience store, takes the money at gunpoint, shoots the cashier in the shoulder and then steals a car during his get-away, the state must try the defendant in three separate trials. The only alternative is trying him on one charge only and dropping the other two.

This means that the robber does not get the time in prison that he deserves on the other two charges. The multi-count indictment bill would change that. Multi-count indictments are allowed in the federal courts and in most of the states across the nation.

This bill was killed in Judiciary A committee of the House of Representatives, but kept alive when it passed the floor of the Senate Wednesday. Now it will go back to the House, probably again to Judiciary A. We need all the public support we can get to assure the passage of this bill. Frankly, we can see no valid reason for anyone representing the best interests of Mississippi citizens to oppose the bill. We ask you, as voters, to let your representatives know how you feel and to urge them to vote for the multi-count indictment bill.

Grand Gulf Decision

Efforts by the Attorney General's office and the Public Service Commission to bring down the percentage of Grand Gulf's cost that Mississippi must pay were rewarded earlier this month.

A federal administrative judge ruled that the allocation of the cost of the nuclear plant should be made based on the percentage of energy that each of the member companies of Middle South Utilities used over a period of time. This formula brought Mississippi's share of the costs down to about 17 percent, much lower than the 33 percent that another federal judge had assessed to the state last year.

"I'm tempted to say that we're elated," Attorney General Pittman said about the ruling, but added that although this decision superseded the other judge's ruling, it still is not final. "The ruling was not as favorable for Arkansas and Louisiana as it was for Mississippi," he said, "and there will be appeals made to the court by those states. We do look at this as a major victory for Mississippi ratepayers and it certainly puts us in a stronger bargaining position in discussions with Middle South."

Organized Crime

Rich Hopkins, formerly chief investigator with the attorney general's Consumer Protection Division, has been promoted to head of the Organized Crime Division. Hopkins took over his new duties on Feb. 1, after the retirement of longtime Organized Crime chief J.D. Gardner.

"We will really miss Chief Gardner," Attorney General Pittman said, "But we consider ourselves extremely fortunate to have someone with Rich Hopkins's experience and enthusiasm ready to step into the job." The division provides the liaison between the attorney general's office and law enforcement agencies, assists in criminal investigations and coordinates information between state and federal law enforcement groups.

Hopkins, before joining the Consumer Protection Division, was a member of the Madison Police Department.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

ONLY PEOPLE PAY TAXES

For weeks now the Mississippi Legislature has been wrestling with the problem of taxation. At issue is the funding of a $1.5 billion state general fund budget, funding of special funds projects as highways, and development of a mechanism for funding of local governments.

The legislature has wandered from page to page through the tax textbook, searching for new sources of revenues, and searching for ways to relieve the tax burden on some taxpayers. Legislators have looked at the income tax, the sales tax, the "sin" taxes, professional services taxes and property taxes.

Lawmakers have considered shifting the tax burden, sharing the tax burden, and raising and lowering the tax burden. They want to be fair with business and they want to give a break to the home owner.

Through the maze of tax talk and tax take and tax reform, the taxpayer hasn't lost sight of one fact: that is, only people pay taxes.

The state needs at least $1.5 billion to fund the general fund; there is a need for taxes for special projects; and there is a need for tax revenues to fund local governments.

But there are only 620,633 personal income taxpayers in Mississippi, there are 43,491 corporate income taxpayers, and there are 71,407 businesses collecting sales taxes.

The tax bite can be divided just so many ways. Individuals are going to be called on to pay for government and governmental services—either through the sales tax, the income tax, the property tax, or with some other tax; or even, perhaps, through a "hidden" tax collected through increased costs of goods and services if taxes are shifted to business.

There is no other way—only people pay taxes.

Library system offers resources to public

The Hancock County Library System has resources available to assist the public in filling out federal income tax forms, according to Prima Wusnack, library system director.

Tax Forms

Free copies of the most frequently requested tax forms are available at all branches of the library system while supplies last. In addition, the IRS has provided each library with a complete set of all reproducible forms that can be photocopied at the library for a nominal fee.

These reproducible forms have been placed in the nation's libraries for those persons who would prefer to photocopy them rather than request forms through the mail or drive to an IRS office, says Wusnack.

Tax Tapes

Cassette tapes with instructions on filing out returns are available for short-term loan from branch libraries. One tape includes instructions for completing Form 1040 and Schedules A, B, and W.

This tape also includes tax tips for the military and veterans as well as general tax tips for the public.

Another tape available contains instructions for completing Form 1040EZ and Form 1040A.

Volunteer Tax Assistance

Free assistance in preparing tax returns is being offered at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library on US-90 through April 15.

On Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. the service is being offered to senior citizens through the sponsorship of the American Association of Retired Persons whose tax volunteers have been trained by the IRS.

On Fridays from 10:15 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. and Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. until noon the service is available to anyone needing assistance in preparing his own return.

This service is sponsored by the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) whose volunteers have been trained by the Internal Revenue Service to assist with the 1040EZ and 1040A forms.

No appointment is needed for either service.

IRS Publications

County libraries also have reference copies of the four-volume 1984 Internal Revenue Service Tax Information Publications that contain more than 60 explanatory pamphlets taxpayers may need to assist them in filling out forms. These pamphlets may be used in the library, photocopied or ordered from the IRS.

The IRS Booklet, Reference Listing of Federal Tax Forms and Publications lists all publications and forms produced by the IRS and is available to aid taxpayers in deciding which documents they may need to complete their tax returns.

Two other IRS publications available in local libraries are Your Federal Income Tax For Individuals and Tax Guide For Small Business.

Books

Several books available at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library should be helpful to taxpayers.

The 1985 Master Tax Guide features tax changes that affect 1984 returns and explains in summary form all facets of the tax laws. This publication includes checklists, tables and other helpful information.

Explanation of the Tax Reform Act of 1984 provides a complete explanation of the many provisions of the legislation signed by the President on July 18, 1984.

J.K. Lasser's Your Income Tax and Miller's Personal Income Tax Guide for Preparing Your 1984 Income Tax Return are step-by-step guides to completing IRS forms.

The Biggest Mistakes Taxpayers Make & How To Avoid Them lists and explains 90 of the most common mistakes taxpayers make which cost them money.

Many other books and magazine literature on investments, money management and personal finances which can assist individuals with year-round tax planning are available through local libraries.

For information on these income tax assistance resources, call the Bay St. Louis Library, 467-5282; the Waveland Library 467-9240 or the Kiln Library, 255-1724.

CARNIVAL PRINCESS—Jessica Schwartz, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lanny "Sonny" Schwartz, was recently crowned Tiny Miss Carnival Princess at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Carnival. She also received the best fashion, best model and most photogenic awards. Jessica was the first runner-up in the Long Beach Miss Mardi Gras pageant. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

HARVILLE HOME—The Waveland residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Harville is nestled in pine trees at 140 Lakewood Drive. The rustic Acadian type home reflects comfortable southern living style from the breezy open front porch to the screen porch and patio in the rear of the house. It is the final stop on the Bay-Waveland pilgrimage tour Thursday, March 28. The home will be open for tours from 1-4 p.m. (Photo by Barbara Pursley)

LEGION EXHIBIT—Members of Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post 77 and some of the Boy Scouts the organization sponsors display posters showing the post's community activities. The posters will be placed at some of the 20 booths to be featured in the annual Post 77 Open House and Membership Drive from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Bay Scouts include, from left,

Tips to Taxpayers

IRS

Estimated Tax Payments Due

Taxpayers receiving social security or tier I railroad retirement benefits should check to see if they are required to make estimated Federal income tax payments, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The first installment for 1985 estimated tax payments is due April 15, 1985.

Some taxpayers received taxable benefits in 1984, the first year for the taxation of social security and tier I railroad retirement benefits.

Therefore, some taxpayers who did not have to pay estimated taxes in the past were required to pay estimated taxes in 1984 because of the addition of the taxable portion of their benefits to their other sources of taxable income.

For 1984 the IRS is computing the estimated tax liability of social security and tier I railroad retirement benefit recipients as if no social security or tier I railroad retirement benefit amounts were included in income.

If the exclusion of these taxable benefits eliminates the penalty for not paying estimated taxes, no penalty will be assessed for 1984, although all tax must be paid.

This waiver of the penalty for not paying estimated taxes in 1984 does not extend into 1985, according to the IRS. Taxpayers receiving taxable social security or tier I railroad retirement benefits or any other income from which Federal income tax is not withheld, for example, self-employment income, interest, dividends, capital gains, or rents should determine their need to pay estimated taxes and do so on a timely basis.

Generally, taxpayers should make estimated tax payments if they expect to owe (after taking into account Federal income tax withholding and tax credits) $500 or more in income tax for 1985, and they expect that total amount of Federal income tax that will be withheld from 1985 income will be less than the lesser of: (1) 80 percent of the tax to be shown on their 1985 income tax return or (2) 100 percent of the tax shown on their 1984 tax return (if their 1984 income tax return covered all 12 months of the year).

If a taxpayer is required to make estimated tax payments for 1985, payment can be made in four quarterly installments. These installments are due on April 15, June 15, and Sept. 15, 1985, and Jan. 15, 1986.

If a taxpayer prefers, the total amount of estimated tax due can be paid on April 15, or if the taxpayer suddenly receives unexpected income which will require the taxpayer to begin making estimated tax payments, the taxpayer may make the entire estimated tax payment at that time.

A payment-voucher from the Form 1040-ES package should accompany each payment and both should be mailed to the local Internal Revenue Service Center. Taxpayers who make estimated tax payments must use a Form 1040 to file their Federal income tax returns.

For further information on estimated tax payments, free IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," is available by contacting the IRS.

Income Averaging

New rules will make it harder to qualify for income averaging, the Internal Revenue Service said. Although this special method of figuring the tax will still help those who have had a big increase in income, the Tax Reform Act of 1984 makes two restrictive changes.

Previously, your income for the current year had to exceed 120 percent of the average income for the prior four years by $3,000 before you could benefit from income averaging. Beginning in 1984, the current year's income has to exceed 140 percent of the average income for the prior three years by $3,000 to qualify for this break.

Let's look at an example to see how this change works. John had the following taxable income: 1980, $22,000; 1981, $25,000; 1982, $27,000; and 1983, $32,000. Under the old rules, John's taxable income would have to be over $34,800 to use income averaging in 1984. With the new law, however, this 1984 taxable income must exceed $42,200 for John to income average. Schedule G is still used to figure the amount.

The free IRS Publication 506, "Income Averaging," has more details on the qualifications and computations involved. It is available by using the order blank in the back of your tax package and is also available as reference for reading or photocopying at many public libraries.

NORDA researchers find 'permanent wave'

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, MARCH 17, 1985-9A

Two oceanographers from the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA) have found a standing internal wave that is almost always present over the bathymetric sill immediately west of the Strait of Gibraltar.

Paul E. La Violette of Waveland and Robert A. Arnone of Carriere, observed the phenomenon during aircraft flights in the Gibraltar area while "underflying" the space shuttle (STS-17) Oct. 6 through 11.

Photographs taken simultaneously from the aircraft and the shuttle indicated the presence of the standing internal wave, which stretched north to south across the 15 miles of water that separates Spain from Morocco.

Chief Petty Officer Ken K. Thornesley and Petty Officer 2nd Class David P. Olsen of patrol Squadron 45 (VP-45) attached to patrol Wing 11, Jacksonville, Fla., assisted NORDA scientists by taking photographs and video tapes of the ocean phenomena. Astronaut Paul Scully-Powers took photographs from the shuttle.

Internal waves are waves below the surface of the water. They can manifest themselves at the sea surface by forming orderly changes of sea state conditions and surface temperature patterns. These changes can often be seen from aircraft and measured, both by the "sea clutter" in standard radar and by regular temperature changes in aircraft infrared scanners.

La Violette and Arnone made five flights over the area during the six-day period from the U.S. Naval Station in Rota, Spain. Two of the flights were in helicopters and three were in P-3 Fleet aircraft from VP-45.

While the helicopter hovered at various altitudes, the NORDA researchers sketched the various internal waves and roughness fronts they found in the vicinity of the Strait of Gibraltar.

"We repeated our flight pattern about five times over a 10-hour period. We noticed that one wave did not move, but was always present at the same location at the western portion of the strait," Arnone said.

"The roughness patterns associated with it were quite marked," La Violette continued. "It was a single wave with a kilometer-wide center of extremely smooth, but apparently rapidly moving, water."

The local winds at the times of the flights varied considerably, and while these caused some changes in the degree of roughness, they did not appear to affect the location or form of the wave, according to the scientists.

"Ships entering or leaving the smooth area were affected," La Violette said. "they would lose their heading for a second before the helmsman would make a correction. On one occasion, a large wave went over the 60-foot-high bridge of a 300-foot-long vessel."

Just under the standing internal wave is a shallow (less than 1,000 feet deep) area called the sill that stretches across the strait's western approaches. The standing internal wave is evidently created by water leaving the Mediterranean at depth and flowing into the Atlantic.

According to La Violette and Arnone, the wave is formed when the flow of this deep water is slowed and forced to rise as a "hump" over the shallow sill. This impediment is caused by the semi-diurnal tides moving in the opposing direction to the exiting water flow.

La Violette and Arnone were measuring the internal waves formed by these tides in conjunction with the space shuttle when they found the standing internal wave. These semi-diurnal, tidal-induced waves move eastward through the strait and have been reported by a number of investigators.

Previous studies have hypothesized that the sill may be the point of origin of the eastward moving internal tidal waves, but there was no proof.

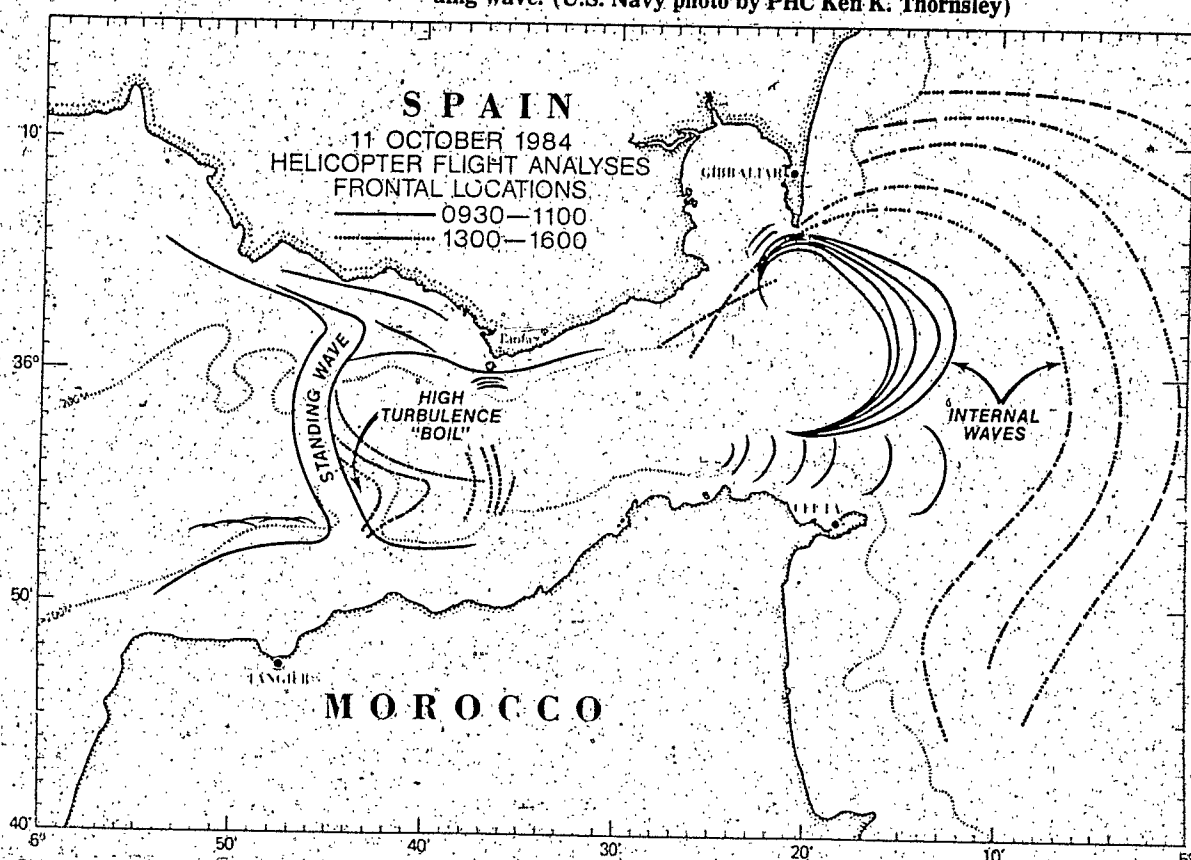

On two of the helicopter flights, La Violette and Arnone were able to document that the tidal waves were originating from the standing wave, and thus were being formed at the sill.

"It was the helicopter's ability to hover and position itself accurately at all times that was the critical factor," La Violette said. "After several hours, we could see these comparatively slow-moving (3 knots) tidal waves moving out from the standing internal wave in the strait proper. The birthing was impressive. The water seemed to boil in the area and the birds would flock in by the hundreds to feed."

The photographs taken by Scully-Powers, aboard the shuttle, showed the semi-diurnal tidal-induced waves bowed eastward, moving out of the Mediterranean. They also showed in a more subtle, but definite fashion, the standing internal wave at the western end of the strait.

Cilurso, Artigues lead hitting attack as Stanislaus holds off Mercy Cross 7-6

St. Stanislaus used the relief pitching of David Pitalo and solid defensive plays by first baseman Philip Wittmann to hold off a determined Mercy Cross team 7-6 at the Rock-a-Chaw diamond Wednesday.

Matt Rosetti pitched the first five innings of the game, allowing three unearned runs on four hits.

Good hitting by Jay Artigues and Pat Cilurso who each stroked two singles and a double to lead the hitting attack. The big blast of the game was a two-run homer by shortstop Mark Logan, who hit the ball over the 350 sign in left field with Artigues on base.

The first two innings of the game were scoreless, although Mercy Cross had men on second and third base in each of the first four innings. In the top of the third, Mercy Cross' Bill Tarazano led off with a single, and advanced to second on a passed ball. Leadoff hitter Tim Koone then walked.

The next two batters, Sam Dellegro and Sammy Sliman both hit sharp grounders to third baseman Jake Welsh, who threw both of them out at first.

Wittmann had to dig one out of the dirt to edge runner Bill Cannette on a close play. With two outs, Rosetti then struck out clean-up hitter Mike Harvey.

The Rocks opened the scoring in the bottom of the fourth when Artigues singled following YaSin Shabazz's strikeout.

Logan then hit a 2-1 pitch over the fence in left field for his first round-tripper of the season. Mike Weems grounder to the third baseman could not be handled. With Weems safe at first, Donald Pitalo came in as a courtesy runner for Weems. Pitalo stole second.

David Pitalo's shot down the third base line was knocked down, and the throw to first barely edged him out. Matt Rosetti then grounded to the shortstop for the second out.

Cilurso stroked a single up the middle scoring Donald Pitalo to increase the Rock lead to 3-0. The inning ended when Welsh flied out to centerfield.

Mercy Cross could not do anything in the top of the fourth. After Bill Cannette flied out to Logan, Robert Bourgeois walked and Charlie Dellenger singled. Mercy Cross threatened with runners on first and third with one out.

William Duvall then hit a grounder to David Pitalo at short who flipped the ball to Logan covering second.

Logan then wheeled and threw to Wittmann at first to complete the double play. Wittmann was pulled off the bag by the throw and had to make a tag on Duvall running down the baseline.

The Rocks picked up another run in the bottom of the fourth when Wittmann hit a shot to third base that the first baseman could not come up with the throw. Shabazz then walked and Artigues followed with his second single of the game. With Artigues on first and Wittmann on third, Logan hit a sacrifice fly that scored Wittmann to increase the lead to SSC-4, Mercy Cross-0.

David Pitalo's fly out to the shortstop ended the inning.

Mercy Cross came back fighting in the top of the fifth inning when Tarazano led off with a deep double to left center field.

Koone then flied out to Logan at second, followed by Dellegro's walk. Sliman's grounder to third baseman Welsh was fielded cleanly but overthrown to first base, allowing Tarazano to score.

When Dellegro advanced to third on a passed ball, Rosetti tried a pickoff at third which got by Welsh, allowing Dellegro to score. Harvey then walked and Rosetti struck out Cannette for the second out. Bourgeois then stepped up to the plate and flied out to David Pitalo to end the inning with the score SSC-4, Mercy Cross-3.

St. Stanislaus picked up three more runs in the bottom of the fifth when Rosetti singled and stole second, followed by Pat Cilurso's third hit of the game, a double deep to centerfield.

Welsh then flied out to the left fielder and Wittmann followed with a sacrifice RBI scoring Rosetti.

Sabazz was safe on an infield error by the third baseman.

Artigues continued his good hitting with a double over the third baseman's head, driving in both Cilurso and Shabazz.

Logan's pop up to the catcher ended the inning as the Rocks gained a little breathing room 7-3.

David Pitalo came in relief of Rosetti for the last two innings. Pitalo retired the first three Mercy Cross batters he faced, getting Dellenger on a fly to Artigues in left, and both Duvall and Tarazano to ground out to Rosetti at second base.

The Rocks bats were silent in the bottom of the sixth as Weems flied out to the centerfielder. David Pitalo grounded to the second baseman and Rosetti struck out.

Mercy Cross came alive in the top of the seventh inning when Koone hit a hard shot at third baseman Louis Schruif. Schruif made a nice play to stay in front of the ball and knock it down as the ball bounced off his shin, but his throw to first was a second too late.

A passed ball allowed Koone to take second. Dellegro then walked. Pitalo struck out Sliman for the first out. Harvey followed with a single, scoring Koone.

When Cannette struck out for the second out, Bourgeois followed with a single, scoring Dellegro and Harvey. With two outs and Bourgeois at first, Mercy Cross had pulled to within one run, trailing SSC 7-6. David Pitalo then got the last batter Charlie Dellenger to strike out, ending the game.

Pitching Coach Rod Herring said he was well pleased with the efforts of Rosetti and Pitalo.

"Both Matt and David threw with a great deal of confidence. They were moving their pitches around nicely out there. We have been getting solid pitching thus far this season, and our team is playing good defense to back our pitchers up," the coach said.

The Rocks were slated to play in a Picyune High hosted tournament during the weekend.

Fun & Fitness

No, they're not a band of religious fanatics that go through life without indulging in the finer cuisines. Vegetarians may be a whole lot healthier than the rest of us. Death rates from cancer, heart disease and diabetes are lower among vegetarians than among the non-vegetarian populations.

Vegetarians generally fall into three categories based on the animal foods left in their diet. Pure vegetarians consume only plant foods. Lacto-vegetarians eat dairy products as well as plant foods. Lacto-ovo vegetarians tolerate eggs, dairy products and plant foods.

Actually, a diet without meat does not differ markedly from an average Western diet. The main difference is that meat is replaced with legumes, cereals, nuts, seeds, milk and milk products, and eggs. Meat analogs, also an alternative, are prepared from the above ingredients and flavored to taste like meat.

Meat provides high quality protein, and this is required throughout life. Protein furnishes the building blocks for muscle and tissue, and these essential amino acids cannot be made by the body in the proportions and quantities needed.

In order to obtain the same balance of essential amino acids as in meats, plant foods need to be eaten in combinations. Grains fill in the missing amino acids in legumes or beans. Nuts, and seeds complement cereals while dairy products and eggs complement any group.

A well chosen and varied lacto-vegetarian diet is adequate for the needs of all ages including the stressful periods of adolescence and pregnancy. The recommended number of servings for each food group remains the same for vegetarians as meat eaters. Four or more servings from both the fruit and vegetable and the bread and cereal groups. Two servings from the protein group and two servings from the milk group.

Pure vegetarians may need supplements of vitamin B-12, iron and zinc. Infants, raised as pure vegetarians also may require vitamin D.

The vegetarian diet offers advantages beyond those cited earlier. It provides a diet where protein, carbohydrate and fat are in better proportions. Fat intake is much lower than typical American diets, especially if low-fat milk products are chosen. Vegetarian diets contribute an abundance of vitamins and minerals. Foods that contain more fiber are usually consumed.

So, from a health standpoint, there is something to be said for saying, "Please don't pass the meat."

BOATING TOPICS

MERCURY OUTDOOR CONSULTANT

BUG FREE PICNICS

Ever go on a picnic and wish you had an ant eater to scoop up the pests trying to get your sandwich? There's a way to beat 'em and outsmart the flies at the same time.

Ants and flies are terrestrial creatures so all you need to do is take to the water to defeat them. Flies, of course, can follow you but since most of their food procuring activities are associated with plants, chances of them following you out on the lake are slim. A picnic onboard a boat is not only virtually bug-free, it's a good way to extend your day afloat. Here are some tips from Mercury Outboards' boating department that will be helpful in preparing and packing food for an on-water picnic.

Put a 10 or 15-pound block of ice in a small cooler the night before your outing. This chills the chest and ice will last longer the next day. Avoid cube or chipped ice as it melts too fast and will add unnecessary moisture to food stored in the chest.

For cold drinking water, fill a gallon jug and freeze it the day before. Set the jug on the floor of your boat and it will melt slowly all day giving you a continuous supply of cool water.

Prepare sandwiches at home and put them in plastic bags. Put these into a lidded box and cover this with a large plastic bag that can be tied shut. Sandwiches wrapped this way will keep their shape and can be stored in an ice chest without the bread becoming moist and soggy.

Farm Bureau Federation POULTRY DISASTER REINFORCES FABLE

The winter of 1985, historically one of the severest to unleash its diversified arsenal of tricks on Mississippi farmers, has dealt a multi-million dollar blow to poultrymen in the northeast corner of Mississippi while giving credence to a popular childhood fable.

Henny-Penny, a fat white hen who is said to have suffered a blow on the head while pulling a worm from the soil, concluded that the sky was falling and set about on an earnest mission to notify the king.

Likewise on the first day of this month the sky literally fell over Itawamba and Lee counties in the form of about five inches of sleet which collected on the metal roofs of poultry houses and sent well over 100 modern, steel-girdered poultry houses crashing down on the heads of many thousands of young chickens that has—temporarily at least—wiped out two-thirds of the poultry industry's production in the two county area.

Like Henny-Penny, the Durbin poultry contracting and processing company of Tupelo, cautioned their contract growers as ice began to accumulate on their poultry houses that they should take whatever steps they could to lighten the loads on the roofs.

The weather phenomenon had begun over Mississippi in the evening of Jan. 31 as rain began to freeze. Jackson was immobilized that evening as central Mississippi was covered with a sheet of ice. The falling, frozen or freezing sky began to accumulate on the thin metal roofs of the poultry houses in Lee and Itawamba counties throughout the night and into the next day. After the first houses began to collapse, word was passed to poultry growers that their houses were in imminent danger. The ice Friday deepened to 4½ and 5 inches.

Harold Martin, who lost two of four houses he operates in the Friendship community near Fulton, said some of the poultrymen weighed a one square foot piece of ice from off one of the houses that had accumulated to a thickness of about five inches. It weighed 12 pounds. Martin reported that his houses were 410 feet in length and approximately 43 feet in width. Hence his houses accumulated a weight load of over 100 tons of ice on each.

Like others, Martin recruited a small work force to try to alleviate the load by chipping ice from the roofs as it accumulated. They worked long and hard under dangerous conditions to clean a little over one half of one house. It later collapsed anyway. Martin had insurance coverage on his houses, but like others in the catastrophe, the insurance was not adequate to replace more than about half of the destroyed structures, due to escalating building costs since they were built in a period from six to 15 years ago.

Martin and his wife were nearby in their home when the first house fell in a domino effect. All of his houses are made totally of metal. The roof span consists of large steel girders joined to upright side girders that are anchored in concrete. The steel simply bent and broke under the load.

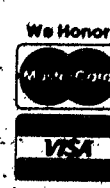

Carlton Spigner of the Ozark community north of Fulton likewise tried to remove ice from the roofs of his five houses. Also, he disconnected feeders and brooders from their supports fastened to the roofs to lighten the load. The Spigners have been 100 percent in the poultry business for 19 years, and had a broiler production capacity of 98,000 birds per batch in five houses. They heard the rending crashes of four of their five houses, taking with it a broiler producing capacity of 77,000 birds. Spigner too had insurance—but it won't build back all of his houses. Already he has let his hired man go who lived next door.

Robert Wilburn had 57,000 broilers in houses in the Big Oak Community southwest of Fulton ready to be picked up for processing. The roofs came down on them: Wilburn and other family members and neighbors operate a total of 14 sprawling poultry houses in his community which local people sometimes refer to as "chicken city." Eleven houses fell. Chickens wandered through the rubble feeding on remnants of feed or perched aimlessly as we visited the scene.

Itawamba County poultrymen lost at least 105 poultry houses; out of about 180 houses in the county as the freezing sky fell over them on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. It remains to be seen if any of the collapsed houses can be repaired. But the farmers don't see how it can be done.

Two arrested for throwing bottles at police vehicles

Kent E. Gyins, 18, of 549 Sycamore St., Bay St. Louis, and a 16-year-old male were arrested in connection with a March 11 incident when bottles were thrown at police vehicles, said Bay Police Chief Murray Ladner.

Gyins was arrested Friday, March 15 and the youth was arrested March 14. Both were charged with aggravated assault on a police officer.

The youth is being held in detention and Gyins was arraigned before Judge Joseph Benvenuti.

Ladner said the police department expected more arrests in connection with the incident.

New scholarships at PRC

For those qualifying, there are new scholarships available for Pearl River College students.

The M.M. Gordon Memorial Scholarship was donated by the family of Mr. M.M. Gordon. This $100 scholarship is available to students majoring in math or science.

The Poplarville Women's Club is also sponsoring a $50 scholarship for the nursing students from Pearl River County.

Students who are interested in these scholarships and who feel they are qualified should apply at the Financial Aid Office. These applications must be completed and returned by Mar. 19.

Guilbeau.....

"I don't know if Raoul understood me. He's a Spanish-speaking man and I don't know any Spanish," Ladner added.

"Mr. Ladner, you're here today to help you're mother, aren't you?" Cox asked.

"I'm here to tell the truth," Ladner replied.

"You'd do anything to help your mother, wouldn't you?"

"If that consisted of telling the truth I would. I don't lie for anybody," Ladner said.

JURY INSTRUCTIONS

After going over jury instructions with the attorneys, Vlahos gave the jury three options for verdicts.

Based on the testimony, Guilbeau could be found guilty of possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute, guilty of possession of a controlled substance or not guilty.

He also reminded the jury that a defendant is innocent until proven guilty and that the prosecution must furnish that proof.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS

In the closing arguments, Cox gave a brief review of testimony from prosecution witnesses and compared their testimony to Ladner's.

He stressed the importance of whether Ladner's testimony was credible.

"He stated that he has never lied before, but when his mother asked him where he was going he told her he was picking up a truckload of furniture," Cox said.

"He said she knew nothing about this, yet she had this conversation with undercover agents. He (Ladner) sacrificed himself to save his mother."

Dukes responded with the defense argument, stating that Ladner had actually committed the crime and had used his client's property to store the truck.

He said he felt Guilbeau had been "set up in a federal sting operation" to catch Ladner, Lozardo and Martinez.

"The state would have you convict this lady because of the crimes of her son," Dukes stated.

"The theory of the state here presumes guilt if you have a controlled substance on your property," he told the jury. "Go home and turn your house over. Go through every room. You could be arrested if your child or someone else has marijuana, and under the theory of the state you could be found guilty."

In rebuttal, District Attorney Cono Caranna disputed Ladner's statement, "It was my deal."

Stating that he based his comments on the testimony of the DEA agents, he said, "It wasn't Ladner's job to look for the truck. It was Virginia Guilbeau's job. Mrs. Guilbeau made that contact."

He also referred to the testimony of DEA agents who alleged that the defendant had exchanged cars, driven to the sheriff's substation in her maroon Lincoln and had attempted to enter a DEA vehicle there.

Bilbo named Farm Bureau manager

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Theodore O. Bilbo Sr. has been appointed as agency manager for the Hancock County Farm Bureau.

Immediate plans to improve the service in the county includes hiring additional salesman, Bilbo said.

"We have been short-handed for a while and the additional salesmen will hopefully allow us to improve the service to our customers in the county," he said.

Bilbo, a salesman with the bureau for 11 years, had served as temporary manager for the past few months. He succeeded the late James Rester.

A native and life-time resident of Bay St. Louis, Bilbo is married to Darlene A. Bordelon of Bay St. Louis. He is the father of three children, Christine, 15, Theodore II, 13, and seven-month-old Blake.

Bilbo is a graduate of Bay High School and completed one year at Pearl River Junior College.

MR. AND MRS. MYRON L. MYERS

Public Radio plans special celebration of Bach birthday

To celebrate the 300th birthday of Johann Sebastian Bach, Public Radio in Mississippi will devote its Mar. 21 classical schedule to the works of Bach.

Five special programs will air throughout the day, and in conjunction with the musical celebration, PRM is soliciting musical poetry from listeners in return for valuable prizes.

PRM's Fine Arts Producer William Fulton will host a 9 a.m. program featuring a wide variety of Bach's music.

An 11 a.m. program will begin with the performance of several organ preludes which have never before been broadcast.

The works as samples of 35 organ chorale preludes discovered in 1984 in the Yale University archives by Harvard Professor Christoph Wolff.

One of the most significant Bach discoveries of the century, the preludes are an important addition to the Bach catalogue.

From noon to 3 p.m., more Bach pieces will be played with Fulton providing insight into Bach's life and times.

At 3 p.m., "Adventures in Good Music" with Karl Haas will focus on Bach's compositions. This program is regularly aired weekdays at 7 p.m.

Highlighting the day's celebration will be a live transatlantic satellite transmission of the St. Matthew Passion from Leipzig, East Germany, at 7 p.m.

This performance from the town where Bach spent a major part of his life marks the first live feed to the United States from behind the Iron Curtain.

The St. Matthew Passion will be performed by the outstanding Gewandhaus Orchestra of Leipzig with Kurt Masur conducting.

To participate in PRM's poetry contest, listeners are requested to submit a poem celebrating the birth and/or life of Bach.

PRM restrictions limit the submitted entry to one page. Entries should be postmarked no later than Mar. 18 and mailed to PRM Bach Contest, 1920 Dunbarton St., Jackson, Ms 39216.

The winning entries will be read on the air and the following prizes will be awarded: third prize, a recording of the Brandenburg Concertos; second prize, a digital recording of the Goldberg Variations; first place, a Panasonic portable stereo AM/FM radio with cassette player.

PRM frequency in Biloxi is 90.3 FM.

Is an IRA right for you?

As April 15th gets closer, more and more people are talking about Individual Retirement Accounts. The tax break you get. The retirement income you can count on.

So, we'd like to help you decide if an IRA's right for you, by answering some of the most frequently asked questions about IRAs.

"Can I still get a break on '84 taxes?"

Yes. You've got until April 15th to open an IRA and apply the tax savings to your 1984 return.

But don't wait past April 15th. Even if the IRS gives you an extension for your return. That's a firm deadline this year.

"Don't you need $2,000?"

If you work, you can start an IRA at Hancock Bank with as little as $5.00. Then, just put in what you want, when you want.

You don't have to contribute every month, or even every year. But your money keeps on working for you, earning interest.

The money you put in is not taxable until you take it out. Even the interest is sheltered.

"How much can I put away?"

If you're employed, you can put up to $2,000 in your IRA. $2,000 each for working couples. Or, a $2,250 combined total for a couple if only one of you is employed.

If you deposit at least $2,000, you're eligible for your choice of 18-month or 30-month fixed-interest rates. Amounts less than $2,000 earn money-market rates that change monthly. When your IRA builds up to $2,000, we'll be happy to lock in a fixed rate for you. It's usually higher.

"Do you have to itemize?"

No. You can use a regular 1040 tax form and still get credit for your IRA contribution. It comes right off the top of your taxable income.

"When can I get my money?"

You can start taking money out of your IRA at age 59½. Of course, it's your money, and you can take it out any time you want. But the federal government imposes a 10% penalty for withdrawal

"I'll open your IRA by phone. Or answer any other questions you have about IRAs." — Mae Beth Tracy, IRA Hotline.

before 59½. And if your money is in a fixed-rate time deposit, there may be an additional penalty.

So, think of your IRA as a long-term investment for retirement. Not a temporary tax shelter or savings for emergencies.

When you reach 59½, you can get your IRA in one lump sum, or set up a regular monthly income. Or, if you choose, you can wait until 70½ to start receiving payments.

"I only have a little to put in now. Would I have much by retirement?"

Let's say you're 30 years old, and in the 29% tax bracket. Look at how $50.00 a month would add up:

Estimated value at age 65: (based on 10% interest)
TOTAL DEPOSIT OVER 35 YEARS	$21,000.00
TAX SAVINGS	6,090.00
ESTIMATED IRA VALUE	14,910.00
ESTIMATED MONTHLY PAYMENT FOR 15 YEARS	172,252.00
TOTAL RETURN	$364,858.00

"Can I really open my IRA over the phone?"

Yes. Just call Hancock Bank and ask for Mae Beth Tracy. She'll quote you our current rates. Explain our new self-directed IRAs.

She'll even fill out your application form for you while you're on the phone, and then mail it to you. So all you have to do is sign it at home and send it in with your first deposit.

Do you have a question?

If you've got a question about something we didn't cover here, please give us a call. Our IRA Hotline is open Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

 Mae Beth will be happy to answer any question you might have about IRAs. Big or small. At no obligation to you.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77

By Esther Oschmann
Foreign Relations Chairman

The "Baby Doe" case in the United States made headlines. The judicial system intervened in the case of the brain-damaged infant, raising questions across the country on the right to life vs. the quality of life.

Such questions are not raised in El Salvador. There is no system or agency to intervene for a less than perfect child.

Severely retarded or brain-damaged infants and children are simply abandoned by the family and government left in the streets like unclaimed baggage.

Medical standards are different in El Salvador and the quick and efficient care to which most Americans are accustomed does not exist in the villages and countryside.

Catastrophic illness takes its toll leaving mentally damaged infants and children in its wake.

Father Flaviano Mucci, who works with poor and desperate people in El Salvador, said there is no defense or responsibility; nothing can be done, the poor just have to accept it.

These special children are identified in a different sense than usually defined in the American Legion Auxiliary in the United States where there are a wealth of homes, institutions, agencies and programs to aid and care for the severely retarded.

They are unwanted and rejected for they will always be neglected and depend upon others for total care.

By circumstances, the poor must simply turn their backs on their own children for care until their unfortunate early death.

The first step to establish a clinical home to provide perpetual care for these special children will be taken by the American Legion Auxiliary as its foreign relations project this year.

In a hospital-like setting, they can be made comfortable and find shelter their remaining days.

Father Mucci said the planned clinical home will be located next to an old-age home, which is also under his direction giving the elderly the opportunity to feel useful and to share in the care of the children.

American Legion Auxiliary State Chairman Mrs. Lou Wilkerson said a study of this country in turmoil will bring to light many of the stark contrasts between life in the United States and that in El Salvador.

Throwing away the lives of helpless infants and children seems cruel and inhuman but circumstances in this war-torn country are severe.

It is a daily struggle for existence and only the fit survive. The American Legion Auxiliary Foreign Relations project will touch only one of the many needs.

It will be the first of its kind, the first clinic home in El Salvador, the first shelter to provide comfort for these abandoned special children who have no home.

Contributions made by all members of the American Legion Auxiliaries will be used to build the physical structure in Sansonate.

Each wing of the building completed with these funds will be identified with a brass plaque, leaving a lasting message to the people of El Salvador.

Americans do care about the helpless and hopeless all over the world. Father Mucci was in Washington, D.C., to speak to the 1985 American Legion Auxiliary Awareness assembly March 4-7, giving a first-hand account of the conditions in this war-torn country and how the programs under way can foster a Pro-American attitude among those people.

According to the American Legion motto, "For God And Country," let us ask our heavenly Father to bless our homes and our country and to bring peace to all over the world.

Friendship Oak DAR

The regular meeting of the Friendship Oak Chapter, NSDAR, was held at home of Mr. A.D. Hutto Jr. in Gulfport on March 9.

The annual State Conference, Mississippi State Society DAR, met in Gulfport Feb. 21-23. The Chapter Scrapbook took second place among chapters submitting entries. The report on activities of Constitution Week, 1973, took first place in the state.

The first function at conference was the State Officers Club dinner. Robert T. Weeks, administrator of Kate Duncan Smith School on Gunter's Mountain in Marshall County, Ala., was speaker. This school is only one of many wholly supported by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Francis Erhard reported on the national Defense luncheon and business sessions. Mrs. James R. Thomas reviewed the resolutions of the NSDAR Conference.

Mrs. Katherine Montague McLevin was approved for membership by the chapter dependent upon acceptance by national.

A flag and Flag Code booklets were presented to the Harrison County Community Work Center by Mrs. Philip Davenport, regent and Mrs. James R. Davenport, vice-regent.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. Hutto Jr. and Mrs. Mark Payne.

8 and 40

Mrs. Mattie North, Petit Chapeau (president) of Bay St. Louis 8 and 40, presided over the regular meeting of the Harrison County Salon 218 at the American Legion Post 139 in Bay St. Louis Friday, March 1.

Treasurer Mrs. Anna Gayaut reported membership reaching quota.

Louise Oschmann gave a full report on nurses scholarships. She also reported on L'Aumonier (chaplain). She sends out get-well cards to all members who are ill or in the hospital. She is still asking members to send their favorite prayer for the 'Book Of Prayers' she is compiling.

Dr. Oschmann also commended the cooperation with publicity by the Sea Coast Echo in Bay St. Louis, also the local radio station WXGR and the Biloxi-North-Biloxi Press.

Members approved a motion to have a cake sale April 4-5 to help raise money for the Cystic Fibrosis and Nurses Scholarship fund in order to assist registered nurses to secure advanced preparation for positions in either supervision, administration or teaching.

A registered nurse may receive a $2,000 scholarship award if she will include Lung and Respiratory disease in her studies.

Mrs. Mattie North, Chapeau, wishes to remind that all members are obligated to donate one or more cakes for a successful cake sale. We would appreciate any person interested in helping us in these projects to bake a cake or send a donation. Someone will pick up your cake if you cannot get it to American Legion Post 139 in Bay St. Louis, or call Mrs. Mattie North at 467-5770 or Mrs. Evelyn Burns at 467-5837. Donations may be mailed to Dr. Esther Oschmann, Chairman of Nurses Scholarship, 520 Esplanade Ave., Bay St. Louis.

Miss Sis Wescovich of Biloxi is telephone chairman for Harrison County members. She will call all members in Harrison County to remind them of the cake sale and the place of the next meeting. The fun and fellowship chairman, Mrs. Beatrice Ladner, gave each member a small token of 8 and 40. Then all members had a parade of "Crazy Hats." Mrs. Lou Wilkerson and Miss Agnes Wilkerson were appointed judges. First prize was given to Mrs. Carmela Boyd who wore a hat covered with kitchen utensils. Second prize was won by Mrs. Mattie North who wore a hat covered with a variety of fruit. The meeting was closed with refreshments.

L'Aumonier Dr. Esther Oschmann would like to leave this thought for today:

God gave you this day to do just as you would, You can throw it away or do some good.

You can make someone happy or you can make someone sad, What did you do with the day that you had?

God gave it to you to do just as you would, You can do what is wicked or do what is good.

You can give one a smile or just give them a frown, You can lift someone up or push someone down.

What did you do with your wonderful day? God gave it to you, did you throw it away?

What's

'Speaking Oracles of God'

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister

501 Pine St.

Bay St. Louis

HEAVEN
At the last passover feast before his death on the cross, Jesus talked about his departure from them.

He said, "Little children, yet a little while I am with you, ye seek me, and as I said unto the Jews, whither I go, ye cannot come; so now I say to you." (John 13:33)

In Verse 36 we read, "Simon, Peter said unto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Jesus answered him, whither I go, thou canst not follow me now, but thou shalt follow me afterwards." These statements caused them to be disturbed.

Jesus strengthened them and made a promise. "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go and prepare a place for you. And if I come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also." (John 14:1-3)

Christ's promise rested on faith. Since you believe in God, believe in me also. The word "believe" means "to adhere to, to trust, to rely on."

John 3:16 is a passage that requires such adherence, trust and reliance.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life."

Our Lord developed such trust so they would not be troubled or disquieted like the troubled sea when it cannot rest; He calmed their fears and anxieties as he calmed the sea. "Peace, be still." (Mark 4:39)

Heaven is the Father's House. In our "Father's house are many mansions." Our Father is where the mansions are located. (Matthew 5:48; 6:9; 23:9)

We will receive a house only when we shed our earthly tabernacle.

Paul said, "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." (II Corinthians 5:1)

The goal of living eternally with God in Heaven should be the first priority in all humanity.

Christ has gone to heaven. While on earth, he said he was going to the Father. (John 20:17)

In Heaven he is "the head over all things to the church which is his body, the fullness of him that filleth all in all." (Ephesians 1:22-23)

As Stephen being stoned to death say "Jesus standing on the right hand of God." (Acts 7:55)

When he comes again he is coming from heaven. Paul said, "For the Lord himself shall descend from Heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first." (I Thessalonians 4:16)

Jesus said, "I go to prepare a place for you." He knew the cross was before him. As he prayed in the garden of Gethsemane he said, "O my Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from me; never the less not as I will, but as thou wilt." (Matthew 26:39)

He was made perfect as he "learned obedience by the things which he suffered." (Hebrews 5:8)

The cross was a part of preparing Heaven for the children of God. Paul said to the Ephesians, "According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love." (Ephesians 1:4)

Also note Matthew 25:34; Heaven is for the righteous, John wrote, "And there shall in no wise enter into it anything that defileth neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie; but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life." (Revelation 21:27)

All things involved in Christ's preparation of heaven is not told, heaven is described as a beautiful place. It is a place where there is no death, sorrow, crying or pain.

The city lies foursquare. The gates are of pearls and the streets of the city are pure gold, as if transparent glass. (Revelation 21:21)

"And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it; for the glory of God did lighten it, and the lamb is the light thereof." (Revelation 21:24)

There man will again eat of the tree of life. (Revelation 22:2)

Paul contrasted the sufferings of this life with the glory of Heaven. "For I reckon that the sufferings of this present world are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." (Romans 8:18)

John said, we do not know what he will look like when he comes but we shall be like him. (I John 3:2)
